WE NOMINATE

the 82 Princetonians who are planning and working for the future while quietly observing the second anniversary of the establishment of the Princeton Community's newest religious congregation—the Calvary Baptist Church. Brought into being in the early spring of 1955, almost a century after Princeton's first Baptist church (now part of the Baptist Church at Penns Neck) had opened its doors at the corner of Alexander Street and College Road, the two-year old church can point to the kind of steady and re-assuring growth that has produced a 200 per cent rise in membership. It has now reached the level where its guiding officers can think in terms of building on the site they acquired nearly two years ago in the vicinity of Princeton High School.

Calvary Baptist's brief history, and for that matter the development of these United States, emphasizes that inspirational leadership and the understanding assistance of others are the indispensable elements when it comes to laying the groundwork for a new institution of any sort. The former was supplied in large measure by the late Harrison Theodore Sorg, founder of the nationwide Blue Cross hospitalization program and later president of the New Jersey Hospital Service Plan. The survey demonstrating the need for a church in Princeton's "northeastern corner" was carried forward by volunteers from the Theological Seminary, while the Westminster Choir College made its Chapel available for Sunday services and also provided office-space in its Administration Building.

Seven weeks after the inaugural service at the Choir College, the committee of 12 founding members called to Princeton from Wilson, N.Y., the church's first full-time minister, James H. Middleton, a graduate of Bucknell University and the Colgate-Rochester Divinity School. This 31-year old native of Rochester, N.Y., has been primarily responsible for the evolution of a comprehensive parish program which includes a kindergarten-through-twelfth grade church school with an enrollment of some 70 children, an active couples' club and a women's service society. Every Wednesday evening, in accordance with American traditions of yesterday, the church holds its mid-week service in a member's home and over the year rotates the service through the parish, from home to home.

In the past two years, under the supervision of Kenneth Maxwell, Director of International Relations for the National Council of Churches, Calvary Baptist has conducted a half-dozen surveys of religious affiliations, "contacting" more than 1,000 homes in the growing sections of Princeton and subsequently sharing this data with other local churches. From the N.J. Baptist Convention the church has received a certificate of merit for ranking among the first five Baptist churches in the state in the all-important category of "per capita benevolences." It has also been honored by the American Baptist Convention as "Baptist Associate in College Work"—the first church to qualify for such recognition in connection with the weekly program it sponsors for students away-from-home.

For their understanding of the basic nature, functions and fellowship of the Christian church; for giving Princeton still another reason to take deep pride in its "community churches"; for building for Princeton's future in all respects; these Princetonians are Town Topics' candidates for Washington Road, asking Council to urge the State Motor Vehicle Division to authorize a yellow "blinker" light for the Washington-Prospect intersection, observing that undergraduates cross Washington at a minimum of 13 places, Council indicated it probably would ask for two blinking "caution" signs, one stationed along each approach to the dangerous corner.

● Noted that plans for "Aviation Place," the long-awaited Bayard-John link which is a state-aid project, will be prepared for state study by mid-April and it probably redied for final Council approval at June's meeting. If so, the artery will be finished in August.

● Adopted three other ordinances—one approving a general salary raise for Borough employees, one amending the Zoning Ordinance of 1951 relative to frontage, building height, restricted parking, et al, and a third calling for a license fee increase of $10 to $20 for jockeys.

● Warned Nu-Level Homes, the Borough-Township subdivision on North Harrison Street, that it must complete work on sewers, curbs, sidewalks and a promised new street by June 1 or expect to lose its bonded Borough privileges.

● Gaped as the mayor reported only 23 delinquent property taxpayers in 1956 — "an amazingly low total."

Approved the appointment of William J. Guinn, 138 Alexander Street, as a police chancellor to help with desk duties and thereby relieve a trained patrolman for outside coverage.

PERSONALITIES

Robert F. Mooney, 46 Cedar Lane, frugal as well as loyal Princeton Clerk who proved himself a successful "junk man" this past week by selling 16 of the municipality's old Camerawire fire alarm boxes, discarded in September of 1955, for no less than $50 apiece. When the Clerk pawns off the remaining four alarms, which could well have been junked two years ago instead of stored in the basement of Borough Hall, he will have earned his town 1,000 unexpected dollars.

Abram N. Spanel, 344 Stockton Street, much-publicized "good will" ambassador of "Town Forces" Man of the Week just one month ago who this week returned from France with glowing reports of valiant receptions afforded him there as well as a large trunkful of medals, awards, honors and prizes presented to him by that nation's leading officials. Admitting that he received a more overwhelming welcome than Charles A. Lindbergh earned 30 years back, the "humanized" business executive spoke warmly of Franco-American relations in spite of the Suez issue and noted that many persons he met now believe the "United States of Europe" a very possible future development.

Harry C. Kahny, 62 Spruce Street, a member of a long-time Princeton family, father of one child and softball performer of distinction who this Saturday will join the Borough police force as a probationary patrolman. A graduate of Princeton High School (1952) and a painter for the past five years, Patrolman Kahny will help solve a law enforcement problem which has vexed applicant-seeking officers for many months.

ROUND-UP

Spring arrives next Wednesday at 4:17 p.m., but Princeton's municipal maintenance men, remembering all-too-vividly the past-winter storms last year, won't believe it until the umpire yells, "Play ball!" . . . Shopping Center officials apparently are convinced the weatherman is right, for they've wrapped their plastic skating rink's footballs, legitimately discarded because juvenile vandals damaged the rink and kept them from ever receiving a fair try . . . Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, Olden Lane, some non-scientific circles, but, according to columnist Dorothy Kilgallen, he has emerged from this classification by purchasing Betty Grable's automobile.

In successive basketball doubleheaders Friday and Saturday nights, starting at 7:15 in the University's Dillon Gymnasium, state championships will be decided . . . Class A and B parochial schools, including unvaccinated Trenton Catholics, will battle it out Friday, with the Group 1 and Group IV high schools on tap the following night . . . Borough investigators, led by Sgt. Peter McGowan, have been unable so far garding the theft of $24 from a shopping bag at the Knights of Columbus, Home, 111 Prospect Street, sometime between 7 p.m. March 8 and 1 p.m. March 9 . . . In its story last week about long-service employees honored at a special banquet by Educational Testing Service, Town Topics inadvertently omitted the name of Mrs. Ralph J. Sharp, 59 Snowden Lane, who rated particular recognition because she was the sole 15-year award-winner in the group.

Dedication of the new St. Paul's Church on March 24 will be conducted without a hitch—in spite of a bit of hassle over parking lot requirements which the Borough claims have not been fulfilled — because the borough has approved a temporary conditional certificate of occupancy and will consider the church's request for parking exceptions at a Zoning Board session March 28 as well as next month's Council meeting . . . Tryptons for Theatre's three plays—winning one-set '57 plays will be held this Thursday and Friday from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in Murray Theatre . . . On the heels of the League of Women Voters' announcement that it is updating and reprinting "Know Your Town," the Borough has announced it will again publish its "facts book," a report on municipal expenditures to the people from the mayor.

CANDIDATES NAMED

Close Races Expected. Next month's primary election will not mean a great deal, since Republicans and Democrats figure to run unopposed in Princeton (barring an unforeseen write-in vote), but, at least, its advent has prompted some interesting political announcements. Thanks to last Thursday's petition-filing deadline for the primary, both parties have been obliged to show their hands — hands they hope will prove winners.

After waiting until the absolute deadline before announcing their Borough candidates, official organizations of both parties waited several surprises — as well as the fact that the crucial majority race will find veteran politicians facing each other. The GOP named Councilman Tristram B. Johnson as its choice for mayor, with political newcomers Ralph D. Hult and Arthur P. Morgan as its running-mates for Council. Democrats endorsed Raymond F. Male for mayor and Richard W. Colman and Richard A. Lester for the governing body.

Selection of Mr. Johnson, now serving as Council president, came as no surprise to those who have watched the development of Princeton politics of late. He had been mentioned since Mayor Sturges first reported his decision to bow out of the picture. Mr. Hult and Mr. Morgan were logical GOP choices, despite their lack of political background, because Mr. Johnson's elevation, plus the planned retirement from politics of Charles J. Rocknak, has opened the door for new Republican blood.

On the Democratic side of the ledger, Mr. Male's candidacy came as the surprise of many Princetonians. Though mentioned frequently, he had steadfastly said, "No," apparently feeling that his close defeats in the last two general elections were reasons to give someone else a chance. Ex-Councilman Colman was considered a good bet to run again for Council, as indeed he will, but Mr. Lester, who heretofore has been content to plump Democratic strings offshore, was the real eye-opener of the trio.

Pressure Applied. Messrs. Male, Colman and Lester, expected to challenge the Republican dominance of the Council with a show of vote-getting strength in November, admittedly were asked by "higher-ups" in their party to constitute a strong Princeton team. The prospect of a relatively new GOP slate was emphasized, as was the all-too-obvious fact that the opportunity for a Democratic victory is enhanced by the absence of a Presidential election.

Action Leader Under Words.

Revitalized and anxious to prove its community leadership, the Princeton Business Association's new board of trustees this week organized a Membership Drive Committee, with Merrill Zinder and Harold Ostroff serving as co-chairmen. The campaign for an increased number of participating downtown merchants is already under way, and the association noted that there must be a real need for its service because 15 of the first 16 persons contacted immediately signed up.

Co-chairmen Zinder and Ostroff have divided the downtown area into five zones and made the following solicitation assignments: Edward Closssey and James Bovino, Bayview Lane to Palmer Square; Mrs. Nina Lord and Walter Servis, Palmer Square to Witherspoon Street; Ben Brown and William Yeoman, Witherspoon Street, both sides; Mr. Zinder, Murray Ashton and Edmund Cook Sr., Witherspoon to Moore Street; and Owen Jack Turner and Leonard LaPlace, Moore to Harriet Drive.

Commenting on the vigorous drive being launched, Lord LaPlace, recently-elected president of the group, observed: "I might say that it is the duty of any man in business to join our effort as we have a definite program. We believe our efforts will pay off not only in the way of improving our business, but will be a great benefit to the citizens of the Borough. We feel it our duty to have a well-organized association and one that will be alive — and function for the benefit of our community."

"Dark horses" reportedly were considered by both parties up to the final hour for filing, but, in the last analysis, it was felt that the stakes were to great to gamble completely on new faces. Thus, only in the Township, where Republicans E. Kenneth Fairman and Stanley C. Smoyer are opposing Democrats James W. Foley and William W. Marvel, will the field be an all-voice one.

In the Borough, Mr. Johnson, 3 Greenhous, will pit his current Council record against the former Council experience of Mr. Male, 70 Cedar Lane, a seasoned campaigner. The GOP majority candidate, a native of Princeton, is co-manager of the Princeton office of Laidlaw & Co. and is Council representative on the Borough Planning Board. Mr. Male is executive assistant to Governor Meyner, who would enjoy seeing the nominee residing across the street in Borough Hall. As for the Democratic Council candidates, Mr. Colman, 2 Campbellton Circle, is a member of Princeton University's physical education department and an assistant varsity football coach, while Mr. Lester, 121 Broadmead, a professor of economics and industrial relations at Princeton University, served as president of the Princeton Democratic Club until this Wednesday, when he relinquished his duties to John F. McCarthy Jr., vice-president, in order to run for office. In the Republican camp, Mr. Hult, 110 Moore Street, born in Princeton, is president of Hult's Shoes Inc., and Mr. Morgan, 18 Hibben Road, another native of the town, is assistant vice-president of the Empire Trust Company, New York City. And is a member of the Borough Zoning Board.

Township to Get Master Plan. The Township Committee approved on first reading Monday an emergency appropriation of funds for a master plan to conform with the planning laws of New Jersey.

Mayor Ralph S. Mason told the Committee that the total cost of the plan for the first 15 months after its approval will be $10,000. Of this amount, the federal government will pay 50%, and the municipality will be liable for the other 50%. One-half of the Township's share is to be paid in cash, the other half must be rendered in services. The sum, $2,500, is payable over five years.

Bids for garbage disposal were taken under advisement by the Committee. The bids were: M. F. Anderson, $8,000; Andrew Teague, —Continued on Page 5

NEW SIGN OF OUR TIMES: Peter G. Cook, president of the Princeton Community Players, erects a new sign on Alexander Street pointing to the group's Playmill, just off the street next to the Rosedale business. This Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, starting at 8:30, the mill-turned-theatre is scheduled for its christening as a stage showplace, with the Players' mid-season presentation of "Amphitryon 38." The same comedy, directed by John F. Becker and starring Tinka Crawford and Irving Van Zandt, also will be offered March 21, 22 and 23, an interesting departure from normal Players' procedure. Tickets for the play may be obtained at the University Store and Bamberger's, or at the Playmill prior to each performance. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

News Of The THEATRES

MCCARTER THEATRE

More Good News. Fulfilling a promise which they made a month ago (and which was dutifully reported in Town Topics), Managing Directors Isadora Bennett and Richard Pleasant have succeeded in signing "A Hatful of Rain" for a two-day stand at McCarter Theatre. The great Broadway triumph will not follow the customary Princeton script, however, since it is scheduled to open on a Wednesday evening, April 3, and close with matinee and evening performances on April 4.

"A play of substance," according to one of many New York critics who gave "Hatful" their wholehearted endorsement, "it is the story of a decent young man who is nevertheless a dope addict. Michael V. Gazzo's terse drama tells some horrifying truths candidly. Under Frank Corsare's direction, the actors match his candor with honesty and skill. Although the subject is shocking, Mr. Gazzo's attitude raises the drama above sensationalism. And there is no resisting the pathos and terror of it."

Vivian Blaine, best-known for her stage and screen interpretation of Miss Adelaide in "Guys and Dolls," will appear as Colia, the role that brought Shelley Winters accolades for her beautiful portrayal. On tour, Miss Blaine has been hailed as a dramatic actress of importance for her playing of the part. Ben Gazzara, who proved a realistic dope addict in the Broadway version, will be back with his old needle in hand by the time "Hatful" reaches Princeton. The managing directors have announced that tickets for this original Broadway production will go on sale at the McCarter box office (5312) at 10 a.m. this Thursday. Seats for the two evening performances run from $2.50 to $4.50, matinee prices are $1.50 to $3.25.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Full of Life (Mar. 14-16) really lives up to its title, and then some. Cinematic Judy Holliday leads the proceedings, which is enough to indicate the wackiness of the film without adding anything more. But Judy is much more than wacky in this picture about prospective parents and their housing and in-law problems — she is articulate and touching as well as winning and funny. It proves her finest screen role to date, this somewhat thin story that doesn't need much plot because of the quantity of delightful vignettes. And Princetonians are bound to enjoy the refreshing, tasteful and welcome adult approach to impending parenthood, foreign parents and religion. Here — Continued on Page 6 is very funny dialogue, presented in warm, human fashion. Richard Conte does well as Miss Holiday's harassed hubby, but the big surprise of the show is Salvatore Baccaloni, a noted singer from the Metropolitan Opera who makes his memorable movie debut as Judy's changeable but lovable father-in-law.

The Big Land (Mar. 17-19), featuring a big dose of Kansas and Missouri plains and prairie, on a big screen in effective Warner-Color that emphasizes the bigness, gives nine-too-big Alan Ladd plenty of room in which to display his prowess with pistol and pulchritude (Virginia Mayo). Cast as a post-civil War cattle driver, hero Ladd requires only an hour and a half to wage a one-man campaign against unscrupulous cattle buyers, construct an entire new town after reconstructing a gin-sodden architect, win the handsome hand of the town financier's fiancée and, in a traditionally bloody climax, rid "The Big Land" single-handedly of the swine swindlers. The virtues of clarity and conciseness are here, since there is nothing more than meets the Warner-Colored eye, but ample action is included to satisfy Ladd fans in particular and Western devotees in general. Happily, Edmund O'Brien's fine characterization of the alcoholic who doesn't remain anonymous adds longitude to an otherwise all-Ladditude film. "Westward Ho, the Wagons!"

FULL OF LIFE! Judy Holiday, the not-so-dumb-as-she-looks blonde of stage and screen fame, plays her most delightful movie role to date in "Full of Life," the rollicking comedy that continues through Saturday at the Playhouse.

(Mar. 20-23) combines once again the surefire mixture of Walt Disney's talented organization and Fess Parker's personality. In this edition, concocted in the usual grand Technicolor manner, Fess still looks like Davy Crockett, but he's really "Doc" Grayson, a medicine turned intrepid frontiersman. He still sings like Davy, too, as he warbles "Wingale Wangle," a ditty which already has made the nation's jukeboxes jingle jangle. The setting is different, however, for this time Mr. Disney's protégé finds himself en route to Oregon, tangling with the Sioux and Pawnee Indians before leading a band of pioneer families, vintage 1844, to their Northwest destination. Thanks to one sleek direction, believable acting, and the wonderful Disney touch, an otherwise routine Western becomes a spirited and colorful production. And, thanks to the Playhouse management, Princeton youngsters are going to get an extra chance to see it: at 10 a. m. on March 23.

THE GARDEN

The Great Man (Mar. 14-16) brings Jose Ferrer back to Princeton in a film that emphasizes his artistic versatility. He gives one of the finest performances of his Academy Award-winning career, as a radio-TV commentator who exposes a hypocritical idol of millions after the "great man's" death, and he also excels as director and collaborator on the adult, oft-racy, realistic screenplay. Done in black-and-white for greater dramatic effect, this powerfully constructed picture receives tremendous help from a lineup of stimulating supporting actors in an assortment of vignette roles. Dean Jagger is superb as a conning broadcasting company head, Keenan Wynn outdoes himself as a disgusted small-line station owner and other outstanding jobs are contributed by Julie London, Jim Backus, Russ Morgan, Joanne Gilbert and, surprisingly but happily, comedian Ed Wynn.

Torment (Mar. 18-20), in Swedish with English titles, symbolizes the first flowering in the renaissance of artistic moviemaking that took place in Sweden during the 1940s, culminating with "Miss Julie." This initial effort of the industry's constantly experimenting, sometimes-genius director, Ingmar Bergman, "Torment" tells the story of a schoolboy (All Kjellin) and his emotional entanglements with a pretty girl (Mal Zetterling) and a sadistic teacher (Stig Järrel). The picture is a sensitive, deeply probing study of adolescence, greatest in interest because of the insight it affords into the troubled years of gymnasium-youth, but also exerting in its psychological delvings into the mind of a murder-minded sadist. "Torment" is highly recommended for those who enjoyed "Miss Julie," less so for those to whom a Swedish movie is the fastest way to "Sex in Sweden."

IT'S NEW To Us

Spring on the Hoof. Light in weight, light in color, clean in line—new shoes at Hult's are straight from the fashions of Town and Country, here at the Princeton shoe store for the first time (140 Nassau). The new group of shoes is in the $8.95 to $11.95 price category depending on style, and there's a matching collection of handbags at $7.95 to $12.95 that makes the whole Town and Country presentation a spring shopping event.

Flats are first. Buck, in a color called "Crackerjack" (let's say "sand"), has a slender white tie for its two little eyelets and a lining of soft kid. "Buckwheat" is a dressier flat with a very low vamp that's flapped with a one-inch fringe. The leather of this one is perforated.

The wedge reappears after a long sabbatical. In this shoe, it's "Corkette" leather, the vamp marked horizontally with wide-spaced ridges, the back of the heel built up against your leg like a medieval shoe. A lower wedge heel in "Buckwheat" has a front like your loafers.

Medium wedges make the heels of a sling "Corkette" pump of punched leather with an open toe. All these sassy leathers are beautiful bucks, and Hult's has thoughtfully provided cleaners for them all.

"Pogo" is an Oxford, light in weight as a kernel of buckwheat, with a crepe sole that's like walking on a bed of springy straw. A classic spectator is fashioned of "Corkette," a color that can best be described as a slightly muted cork (been in the bottle a while).

For hot weather, you'll want the cork-wrapped (real cork this time) wedge heel that holds up a natural raffia sandal in a color called "Tea House." For a touch of smoothness and elegance, buy the pump called "Fair Lady" in a color called "Gin Fizz"—get the picture? "Gin Fizz" is the same color they used to call "Champane," which may be an inflationary note for all we know.

Come to think of it, "Gin Fizz" is a lighter color than "Champane"; in any case, it goes not to your head, but to your feet. The shoe is leather-lined only.

Bags—small or large satchels, clutches, etc.—come in that same "Buckwheat," "Gin Fizz" and "Corkette," and also in raffia. The leathers and colors are so coordinated that you can buy several pairs of shoes and wear them harmoniously with the same bag.

File 13. Balancing on a new pair of wedges, we negotiated the basement stairway of Princeton Stationers (86 Nassau), and came upon the new and businesslike showroom this store has arranged for its expanding universe of office equipment.

Whatever you want, you can have: file cabinets, little desks that would be splendid for a child's room, big desks for executives thinking great thoughts, small filing drawers for insurance policies, old report cards and the

Top Seeded

Get your thumb out in the sun and let it turn green. Rosedale Garden Market says spring is coming and why aren't you out working in the garden?

Before another day has passed, you should feed lawn, trees and shrubs so the next light frost or two will work the fertilizer into the ground for you. For the same reason, you should also do top seeding of an established lawn.

Complete all fertilizing by the end of March. Rosedale recommends Agrilite, the 100% organic fertilizer, or Agrico's 10-4-4 50% organic (used for golf turf.)

Got everything fed? Don't just sit there—plant some trees. Yews, Japanese hollies and trees of all kinds should go in the ground now. You should have fed established trees when you fed the lawn (roots are growing even if leaves aren't out yet), and heavens, you didn't forget the azaleas, did you? Rakes, hoes, shovels, spreaders—you probably need them all and you're lucky because Rosedale has them all, and will even rent you a spreader or roller for $1.50 a day.

Princeton Stationers is the franchised dealer for Stearns master, which accounts for all this display. There is also the Joyen which is a light-weight, lower-priced collection a filing cabinet is $19.15. There is a desk unit you can fasten to the edge of the cabinet if you want to make a knee-hole desk with drawers down one side.

If you want a really big desk, buy two filing cabinets and a full-sized door to put on top of them. Unfinished doors can be bought at cost, finished ones for slightly more.

Desk trays to hold memos and a luncheon sandwich, cutting machines, typewriter pads, telephone rests, vertical or horizontal files—everything is down in that basement. We even found an "in" basket.

If you happen to need 3,000 toys and games, Princeton Stationers has picked up exactly that number you may buy them, one at a time or all 3,000, for half price. This brings many of them down to 50¢ each, and candy mothers may wish to stock up on—Continued on Page 8 presents for the next year of birthday parties.

There are spin games and ouija board a kind of Scrabble and a round-the-world game anything, in short, to stock up a game room, and not damage your wallet. The prices actually bring the collection's high reach of small weekly allowances, and you might suggest Princeton Stationers as a Saturday rendezvous for the young.

The Shop at the Inn. A varied and unusual collection of quality jewelry is now being displayed on the counters of the Princeton Inn Gift Shop, a place you might not have considered because of its location off the beaten shopping path.

Earrings start at $1.50, and there are plenty in the under-five price bracket. We liked an ensemble of silver and black Siamese jewelry (not from Siam, just the motif), with triangular black earrings that turn out to be fans with a silver Siamese dancer on the face. There are cuff links, pins, earrings and clips in this group, all with a delicate lace of silver at the edge of black enamel.

Summer jewelry comes in strands and strands, all different. The necklace of small pink pearls, odd-shaped crystals and pink translucent petals — eight strands in all to shimmer against a white dress or a tan Earrings match.

A double strand of crystals has its drop earrings, an amber choker separates its beads with small brass balls, and presents you with amber earrings to catch the light. Mexican silver has been used for several bracelets that are filigree, or wide and heavy, as you prefer. In some Mexican jewelry, abalone has been used as inlay with great effect. There's a pillbox, a striking tie clip, earrings, and cuff links, all with this combination. Silver alone makes a chain bracelet with a Spanish accent.

Copper chokers are linky and slinky... "general" dinner rings are an echo of the 'thirties... a rhinestone cross might be an appropriate gift at this time of year... a jeweled ear key could be the present some man is yearning for (unless he'd prefer a gift that has magnificently endless possibilities; a combination ear key and nail clipper).

Passport to Hong Kong. Some traditional plaques representing the four seasons have been worked out in a modern Chinese design and are now on display at the Kung Ping Gift Shop, 15 Witherpoon.

There are two different sets of "season" plaques: one has been done in black lacquered teak decorated with hammered brass flowers characteristic of each season (one plaque to a season, naturally). These pictures are about ten inches wide and 30 inches high, and would fill almost a whole wall, if they were hung side by side.

The other group is smaller. Each picture is about a foot square, with flowers that have been wrought out of black metal in a three-dimensional design. You might arrange them in a garden against a white brick wall. Ten sets from the Chinese past include capacious pots, cups and saucers, (Western style), and covered bowls that could be used for soup or rice. There are several deep salad bowls in various sizes, too. All these dishes are elaborately decorated with the traditional floral and figure designs of Chinese ware, in which shades of rose and blue predominate.

$7,825; Jewel Huntley, $7,750, and C. C. West, $7,200.

Permission was granted the Princeton Water Company to erect a 90-foot water tower in Princeton Research Park. Mr. Mason also took occasion to ask the company to furnish the committee with estimates for the cost of fluoridating the water. The Board of Health has already advised fluoridation. In other action, Pardo Road and part of Wilson Road were accepted for Township maintenance.

Epileptic Suffocates in Mud. Edward Prince, 45, of Route 27, South Brunswick Township, died a week ago under unusual circumstances while working on a house on Randall Road.

Police said that Mr. Prince, a known epileptic, had been painting a foundation wall while the rest of the men had gone to lunch. He apparently was seized by an attack which threw him face down into the mud. Death was caused from suffocation, according to Township Police Patrolmen Richard Steiner and Sam Lisi.

Hurt in Fall. Alastair M. Stewart, 26, of 62 Erdman Avenue, a carpenter, received back injuries and fractured his left arm Tuesday morning in a thirteen-foot fall from a scaffold. He was reported in good condition at Princeton Hospital.

The accident took place at the building site of the new housing project for the Institute for Advanced Study. Harry Rue, 46, of Trenton, also fell when the scaffold broke but was not injured. The First Aid Squad responded to the call.

Township Court Action. William J. Cooke, 34, of Van Kirk Road, was fined $275, had his license revoked for two years, and received a 30-day suspended jail sentence in Township Court Tuesday for driving while under the influence of liquor.

The verdict was handed down by Judge Gerber after the case had been heard for over three hours. Mr. Cooke had been the cause of a five-car chain accident last month on Stockton Street, when his automobile struck four others halted while a stalled vehicle was being pushed off the road. Nearly a dozen witnesses, among them John P. Brady of Newark, chief chemical intoxicologist for the State Police, appeared.

In other court action, Horace L. Mayes, 35 Leigh Avenue, was fined $20 for parking in a prohibited area, and Mrs. Barbara Curtis, 24, 14 S. Main Street, Pennington, paid $15 for driving without a license in her possession.

Borough Court Action. Eight drivers charged with passing red traffic signals were among the score who paid fines Tuesday in borough court. Magistrate Paul R. Chesbro presided.

Those from the Princeton area summoned, their offenses and amounts paid were: Herman Brockton, 175 Witherspoon Street, using an expired learner's permit, $30, and failure to register change of address, $15; Robert K. Andrews, Jr., Westminster Choir College, speeding $25; G. A. Kreisel, 9 Ober Road, and Wilson T. Airye, 175 Nassau Street, speeding, $15 each; J. A. Briscoe, Cherry Valley Road, exceeding traffic lane from curb improperly, $15.

Also, W. J. Chartier, Jr., of Hopewell, speeding, $25; A. L. McCabe, Herronstown Road, and Donato D. Pinelli, 279 Ewing Street, passing a "stop" sign, $12 each; John V. Fine, Jr., 122 Rollingmead; Mrs. William H. Scheide, 133 Library Place; J. H. Middleton, 29 Tree Lane; Michael Member, 220-C Harrison Street, and Robert McPherson, Street, all passing red traffic signals, $14 each. Mr. McPherson was also fined $15 for failing to register a change of address with the Department of Motor Vehicles.

In Trenton, the Department of Law and Public Safety announced revocation of the licenses of Lewis S. Kraft, 214 Moore Street, and of Sherman Field, 41 Witherspoon Street, both for three speeding convictions.

Legion Seeks New Members. A large group of new members will be initiated Wednesday, March 27, at Post No. 76 Legion headquarters, 53 Verree Street.

A special program has been arranged to celebrate the Post's 38th anniversary, and the House committee, with William Birch as chairman, will serve food and refreshments. Assisting, Mr. Birch are Marino Ferrara, William Haupt, Nathaniel McKee, Henry Robertelli and Thomas Lynch. The membership committee consists of Robert Schmidt and Eric Jungburg. The Post has a paid-up membership for 1957 of about 300. Eligible veterans interested in joining or wishing information or literature are asked to contact D. Don Richards, public relations officer, (1-0914).

Birth List. Three boys and six girls were born last week to Princeton area residents in Princeton Hospital.

Parents of sons are: Mr. and Mrs. Hallet Johnson, Red Hill Road; Mr. and Mrs. J. Theodore Wyckoff, 81 Model Avenue, Howell; and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Buxton, 2633 Main Street, Lawrenceville.

Daughters were born to: Mr. and Mrs. August Martinez, Laurel Avenue, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie L. Robinson, 370 Alexander Street; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heinzel, Our Lady of Princeton Convent the Great Road; Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reuter, Carson Road; Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, 613 Snodgrass Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Ranker, Alexander Road, Princeton Junction.

Mother-Daughter Tea Planned.
A fashion show will be featured at a Mother-Daughter Tea to be given on Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. by the Princeton High School PTA in the school auditorium.

Clothes from Mary Gill, Lillian Bellows, the French Shop, Mayme Mead, Elise Coupland and H. P. Clayton will be modeled with Mrs. J. E. Becheider and her daughter, Jane, narrating. Mrs. Charles Weigel will be the hostess in charge of refreshments.

Union Plans Dinner. The Princeton Branch of the English Speaking Union will hold a dinner meeting in the Princeton Inn at 7:30 Monday, March 25.

Alistair Cooke will be guest speaker. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Watts Humphrey of Cleveland Lane before Wednesday.

Program on India Planned. The music and dance of India will be discussed and demonstrated at a meeting of the Junior Faculty Wives Monday at 8:15 p. m. in the Staff Lounge (B level) of the Firestone Library. All members, their husbands and guests are invited.

Harold S. Powers of the University Department of Music will discuss the music of India and offer selections to illustrate his talk. Miss Krishna Mayampalli will show dances originating in the south of India, employing a combination of techniques collectively known as Bharatnatyam. Refreshments will be served.

Art on Display. Miss Helen Dickson, a former resident of Princeton now living in Wycombe, Pa., has placed her paintings in the Little Gallery for a display which begins this Sunday. Miss Dickson has exhibited her paintings in many galleries, including the New York and San Francisco World Fairs. Princeton University creative arts critic Stephen Green has drawn a collection of his own drawings and paintings on view in the McCormick Hall Art Museum until March 31. Works of the 38-year old University of Iowa graduate have been loaned from a number of public and private collections.

Two pictorial photographs by Orren Jack Turner will be placed on exhibit in Washington, D. C., at the international convention of the Photographers' Association of America. "Young Dancer" and "Nude III" are Mr. Turner's entries, picked from a field of 5,000.

Dance Recital for "Y". Fund.

IF YOU LIKE TOWN TOPICS, the best way to show your appreciation is to mention it to our advertisers.

An Informal Dance Festival. "Fantasy of Seasons," will be presented by the Peggy Longstregh Bayler school of dance Friday, March 22, at 8 p. m. in the Princeton High School auditorium.

Mrs. Bayler will stage the show and create the choreography. Mrs. Mary Williams is in charge of costumes and Richard Swinnerton of the boys gymnastics. Proceeds will go to the YMCA-YWCA Building Fund.

Pig Roast Supper Scheduled. A pig roast supper will be held by the Grignton Volunteer Fire Department on Saturday, March 30, at the firehouse. The supper will be served from 6 to 8 p. m. Assistant Chief Arthur Saravim has been named general chairman in charge of the supper. He will be assisted by Chief Steven V. Kady and a committee of firemen.

Authentic Early American!

Cherrybrook by KLING

AS AMERICAN as cherry pie is this new Kling group in SOLID native cherry. Combine either traditional or modern accessories with this early American design to create a beautiful, distinctive room.

The richly grained solid cherry in CHERRYBROOK is finished in a delightful new color... Fiddletone. Fourteen separate finishing operations bring out all the natural beauty of the solid wood. And only SOLID wood can give you all the qualities you find in this authentic early American design. Lavish appointments, generous size, and skilled cabinetmaking identify the CHERRYBROOK group as really fine furniture. The styling and color are in keeping with today's decorative trend. Come in and see CHERRYBROOK soon.

IT'S NOT ICE CREAM THEY'RE AFTER, BUT FOOD FOR THOUGHT: Seeing is believing, and this scene is almost the real McCoy, not merely a photographer's idea of an appealing shot. These Princeton youngsters actually are eager to check out books at the Public Library, though they normally don't converge on the desk of Mrs. Fred M. Ferguson, head of the children's section, in such numbers. The book enthusiasts are (left to right, against desk) Pat Eberlein, Eric Chase, David Johnson, Jennifer Ramsey, Joan Glover and Martha Rahm, and (behind front line) Terry Patterson (left) and Ann Reed. For a better understanding of their enthusiasm, see Question of the Week below. (Richards Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: What brings you to the library?

Local: Princeton Public Library, children's section.

Joan Glover, 12, of 47 Chestnut Street: They've got the kinds of books I like—about animals, especially horses, and about mysteries. Even though we have TV at home, I split up my time between television and reading. My mother doesn't think so, but I like to read the best!

Martha Rahm, 10, of 21 Maple Street: They've got the kinds of books I like—about animals, especially horses, and about mysteries. Even though we have TV at home, I split up my time between television and reading. My mother doesn't think so, but I like to read the best!

Pat Eberlein, 13, of 84 Deerpath: I usually come here for a good sports or mystery book, or to do reference work for a school project. Until lately, I came here pretty often, but we're going through a heavy period at school now, so I don't get in the library as much. Homework ties you up, you know. But I really like sports books. If I once start a good one, I read right up to ten o'clock, then start reading again the first thing the next morning.

Ann Reed, 11, of 20 Murray Place: I like the library books because, in school, they give us a list of books and expect us to read them at home. If we don't have them at home, and we usually don't, then we can get them here. I'm here twice a week most weeks. Of course, I admit I rather like television, but TV's got too many mysteries—they scare me at night time—so I'd rather read about animals and things like that. The library has a wonderful variety of books for little kids.

David Johnson, 10, of 109 Linden Lane: There are better books here than I can find in school—comedy books like "Odis Spofford." Once in a blue moon I go to the movies, but I really think books are more interesting than movies or TV. My mother will tell you I even skip supper once in a while to read a good book.

Jennifer Ramsey, 10, of 12 College Road: Because I like to get

Better Than "Happy Pills"

When Mrs. Fred M. Ferguson came to Princeton with her husband several years ago, she thought perhaps her duties as head of the children's section of the Public Library might well prove less arduous than her previous job. She had left a similar post in a much larger city, so it was reasonable to expect a let-up in activity here.

Mrs. Ferguson was wrong. Since her arrival, she has been kept amazingly busy checking out and checking in youngsters' volumes, not to mention the conducting of reading sessions and tours for school groups, Brownies and Cub Scouts almost every day. Last year, her section set a new Princeton record for children's books by checking out 40,000 plus in the 12-month period.

"It's really very gratifying," Mrs. Ferguson observed, explaining that she is delighted to note the fine reading habits of many Princeton pupils as opposed to those of the youngsters in the large city where she worked. She admitted that the young readers keep her hoping—"this is strictly a one-man show"—but she indicated she wouldn't trade places with anyone, and her proteges indicated they wouldn't want her to.

out books about animals—books about animals like horses and wild animals. One of my favorites is "The Black Stallion's Return," but the best I've ever read is "Little Fox," which I'm now reading again.

Eric Chase, 10, of 10 Bank Street: I really like mysteries and comedies—that's what brings me here. I try to read all of "The Hardy Boys" books, and one of the best books I just read was "Secret of Skull Mountain." I usually alternate between reading and TV, but I've got to honestly say I alternate mostly to television.

Terry Patterson, 10, of 106 Spruce Street: I think the library's a fun place because it has lots of amusing books to read. The librarians are especially nice too. I don't know how often I come here—just pretty often, I guess.

ALUMNI CONFERENCE

Many Princetonians Help. Plans are now being completed for the "Princeton-in-Princeton" alumni conference to be held here April 10-12. Representatives from alumni associations throughout the United States and Canada and their wives will come to the conference to honor President Harold W. Dodds, who retires in June after 24 years as President of the University.

The annual conference will focus on Princeton's growth during Dr. Dodds' administration and the University's plans for the future. It will include panel discussions, working sessions, special tours and exhibitions and social activities. Members of the faculty and administration will participate in the program, and alumni living here will be hosts for the social events.

John C. Williams '25 of Princeton will be chairman of "Princeton-in-Princeton." Residents serving with him are the following heads of subcommittees:

John F. Donoho '18, program chairman; Philip W. Quigg '43, vice-chairman; George F. Hackl Jr. '26, vice-chairman of local arrangements; Seymour Morris '33, publicity chairman; William H. Sword '46, vice-chairman; James Carey '29, finance chairman; H. Stewart Peyton '26, vice-chairman; Laurence C. Ward Jr. '31, registration chairman; Moore Gates Jr. '48, vice-chairman; Gilbert Lea '36, entertainment-dance chairman; Roger B. Kirkpatrick '34, vice-chairman; Joseph H. Wright '30, chairman of reception committee; DeWitt C. Jones '13, Miss Fine's reception chairman.

John P. Poe '22, special luncheon chairman; Edward C. Rose Jr. '42, vice-chairman; Henry H. Patton '35, recreation chairman; Harrison S. Fraker '39, vice-chairman; Francis A. Comstock '19, ladies' activities chairman; Lewis B. Cuyler '21, local parties chairman; George R. Cook III '26, vice-chairman; P. MacKay Sturges '17, Princeton hosts chairman; David H. McAlpin '20, vice-chairman; Harold W. Chase '43, transportation chairman; and Marshal M. H. Dana '32, McCarter Theatre entertainment chairman.

Ex-Diplomat to Speak. A retired foreign Service officer, Samuel Reber, will explain "Operations of the State Department" to the Women's College Club on Monday. Mrs. Frank L. Eldmann and a committee of Mrs. Wendell L. Carlson, Mrs. Archibald M. Crossley, Mrs. Norman V. Hope, Mrs. Harley L. Lutz, Mrs. Irving W. Mershon and Mrs. Luman H. Tenney will be in charge of the meeting which will begin at 3:30 in the Princeton High School social room.

Mr. Reber, who has lived here for two years, was U.S. Deputy High Commissioner in Germany prior to his 1953 retirement ending a 27-year long diplomatic career. He is currently executive secretary of the Goethe House in New York.

Borough PTA Plans Book Sale. The Borough Elementary School Parent Teacher Association has slated its annual Book Fair for Tuesday and Wednesday, March 26 and 27.

Aimed at providing good reading material to children and parents alike, the two-day sale will be conducted in the Nassau and Quarry Street Schools. The PTA —Continued on Page 15

"FIRST LADY" HELPS RED CROSS: Princeton's and the State's new "first lady," Mrs. Helen Meyner, who once served overseas with the Red Cross, presents a contribution from her and the Governor to Mrs. Shepard Kimberly 2d, chairman of the Princeton chapter's general canvass division. Working in behalf of the Red Cross organization's 1957 drive herself, Mrs. Meyner will discuss its great needs at the Princeton Kiwanis Club's luncheon meeting March 21. This appearance, her first public speaking engagement in Princeton, is expected to draw the biggest Kiwanis turnout in the club's two-year history at the Nassau Tavern. PTA to View Child Testing.
The Borough Parent-Teacher Association will meet Tuesday at 8 in the Nassau Street School cafeteria to discuss the use of standard tests in measuring student progress.

Elaborating on the theme, "Judging Progress in School," teachers and staff members headed by P. J. Cobb and Dr. J. I. Barton will explain the various testing methods and their ability to document child development.

Dodds to Address Phi Beta. Dr. Harold W. Dodds, President of Princeton University, will address the annual meeting of the Princeton chapter of the Phi Beta Kappa Society Thursday, March 28, in the lounge of the Woodrow Wilson School at 8 p.m.

Seven Princeton seniors recently elected to the society on the basis of their first three years of study will be honored at the meeting. The ranking 25 students of each of the four undergraduate classes will also be invited, and a prize will be presented to the top man in each class.

Many faculty members from the University are expected to attend, and all Phi Beta Kappa members in the vicinity are invited. Those wishing to attend should write Wayland Griffith, 226 Palmer Laboratory, Princeton University.

Scouts Camp Out. Troop 50 of Trinity Church has held a two-day trip to the Ten-Mile-River Scout Reservation in Narrowsburg, N. Y. Eight Scout fathers participated in the trip, which was led by Scoutmaster John Boles and Assistant Scoutmaster Frank Rhodes.

The scouts slept outdoors in tents and did all their cooking at improvised firepits. The time was spent on tracking assignments and ice skating. Three new scouts, Allen and Douglas Robertson and Frederick Mackinnon, were initiated into the troop at a campfire ceremony.

Members of troop 50 making the trip were: James Woodward, Lynn Peterson, Ronald Hurford, Ramon Alden, Bruce Renshaw, John Bailey, David Tibbals, John Beldler, Roy Norton, Paul and John Dobbin, Alan Darke, Richard Webster, Tom Douglass, Michael Marsson, Clifford Gratz, Nathaniel Thompson, Duncan Jay, Donald Ammerman, Randolph Plantinga, Michael and Terence Logue, Thomas Renshaw, Hoyt and Marc Masterson, Peter Kann and Dickon Baker.

Town Club Dance Friday. All Princeton young people are invited to the Town Club's dance this Friday evening at 8:30 in the Lawrenceville Firehouse on Phillips Avenue.

The event is "stag or drag" and refreshments will be provided. Robert D. Wilkes of New Brunswick heads the dance committee.

Spaghetti Dinner Planned. The Lawrenceville Fire Company's Ladies' Auxiliary will serve up a spaghetti dinner next Saturday, March 23, at the Phillips Avenue firehouse. Serving will be continuous from 4 to 8.

Auxiliary president Mrs. Livio Arrounzi will direct her staff of Mrs. Joseph Huber, Mrs. Leonard Venner, Mrs. John Butler, Mrs. George Hibbs, Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. Chester Cooper, Mrs. Clifford Stark and Miss Betty Golding. Tickets (adults, $1.50, children, 75c) may be purchased from all members.

SPORTS In Princeton

TOUGH SEASON

Poorest in Over 10 Years. In a winter sports season that saw only three of seven varsity teams finish above the tell-tale 500 mark, Princeton compiled its worst won-lost average since 1946-47. Freshman teams, too, were far below average, with only the hockey and basketball teams winning more than they lost.

The best effort was turned in by John Connor's varsity squash team, which compiled an 8-3 mark and earned a three-way tie with Harvard and Yale for the Ivy title. It was the only championship of seven in which the Tigers had a share. The team was to Yale in basketball and swimming, Columbia in fencing, Harvard in hockey and Cornell in wrestling, with track to be decided at Ithaca this weekend but Princeton far out of the running.

The basketball team (which won two games and lost two in alternate weeks during the last month of its schedule) wound up with a 14-9 record. A 4-3-1 mark in wrestling was the only other record topping .500.

Down at the bottom of the ladder was the luckless hockey team, which dropped 18 out of the 20 games it played and finished in a last-place tie with Brown Ivy League standings. The team is the poorest in the sport since Baker Rink was built in 1923. Other varsity records were fencing, 5-5, and swimming, 4-6-1, with track 2-3 and the Heptagonists still to go on Saturday.

where Princeton's rarely won in the last decade, the in-and-out basketball team gave one of its top performances last week as it rang up an 88-82 triumph. Despite a 34-point splurge by All-American Chet Forte, the Tigers broke away from a 36-34 half-time deficit and led for the final 19 minutes of the second period.

Carl Belz paced Princeton's 47% shooting average with 11 of 19 for a fine 58%, dropping in 25 points. Paced by Whitey Fulcomer's 21, four other Princeton players were in double figures.

The victory gave the Orange and Black a chance to tie Columbia for third place in the Ivy standings, two notches above its 1956 finish. This they wrapped up on Saturday with a 72-67 triumph over Penn, at it was not until the final seconds that they could claim the decision.

The sixth-place Quakers led virtually all the way (although the score was tied 15 different times), and it was not until there were less than five minutes left that Princeton took a 60-58 lead. This was built to 68-63, whittled to 68-67 with 50 seconds to go and when Walt Blankley missed a foul shot, the Tigers might have blown it right there. However, Fulcomer tapped in the rebound and just be-

Belz Breaks Record

In scoring 39 points in his last two games, 25 against Columbia and 14 in the victory over Penn, Carl Belz reached a total of 380 in his first year on the varsity. This breaks by 32 the record for a sophomore, set a year ago by Whitey Fulcomer, who holds Princeton's three-year record (1,292 points) made 333 as a sophomore in two less games than Belz played.

Belz is now a leading candidate for first base on the Princeton basketball team. His twin brother Herman is considered a top pitching prospect for Eddie Donovan's squad, which opens its season March 30 on University Field against Colby.

For the buzzer, Captain Don Davidson closed out a good career with an insurance basket to give the Tigers' their second triumph over Penn.

In addition to the Red and Blue, Columbia and Cornell were beaten twice in compiling a 9-5 Ivy mark. Split decisions were gained with Yale and Dartmouth, so that it was the split with seventh-place Brown and the double defeat by fifth-place Harvard that killed off the Tigers.

Ivy Turns Crimson. In an unprecedented selection by the coaches of the five Ivy hockey teams, all six coaches for the mythical Ivy squad were Harvard players. So were two members of the second team, on which Harry Rulon-Miller was the lone Princeton representative.

The Crimson won its fourth straight title last week when it toppled Princeton at Cambridge. S-L Al Beveridge got the lone goal for the losers.

peign are good, pointing out that his manpower situation is much better than it appeared at this juncture a year ago. If Hogarty can improve at the pivot spot, or someone else can take over there and free Hogarty for the outside, where the Little Tigers also need some help, his worries may be over, Borzok observed.

As things stand now, PHS will have Ammerman, who averaged 23.5 points this season, and George Wilson, who suffered acidentally but looked fine after finally reporting, at the forward positions. Hogarty at center and Bruce Larson and Bill Gallant handling the backcourt chores. This combination, with Benny McGuire, Joe Chibbaro and Bryce Chase (all juniors) subbing for the absent Wilson, played under the banner of the "Tigertown Tarheels" last week and overpowered the Dayton Rams, an adult contingent, 113-81.

In his search for reserve strength or possible starting material, Borzok will have several likely candidates moving up from the junior varsity: Tony Bocanuso, a slight but fast operator who tallied 270 points in 19 games (14.3 per) for top jayvee honors; Edgar Riddick, an improving set-shot performer who contributed 177 markers in 18 contests; Ray Tamasi, a better-than-average fast and hook-shot man who sank 144 points in 15 games; and Butch Cross, who ranked fourth in the scoring average department with 164 markers during the full 19-game slate. Also, the coach will take a look at a few promising ninth graders from Witherspoon and Valley Road Schools, particularly Tommy Petrone of the former.

PHS Manager Paul Freeman and Statistician Nelson Coughlan, producing final figures after a campaign of hard endeavor, released these interesting facts (based on 18 contests): Ammerman led in shooting percentage (168 of 293 shots for 57.5%) and rebounds (43), followed in the shooting department by Hogarty (56 of 113 for 49%) and Borger (120 of 262 for 45%), and in the rebound business by senior Nick Kovalakides (125), Borger (106) and Hogarty (104). They noted also that the Group III Central Jersey post-season tourney was handsily by Bound Brook, a 71-55 regular-season victory of Princeton, and PHS (9-10 dirt) even think it worthwhile to enter the competition this year.

Shriners Plan Doubleheader. A basketball doubleheader, arranged by Khufu Temple No. 120, Princeton Shriners, will take place Saturday at the Witherspoon School, with the first contest scheduled to start at 7:30. The Shriner Juniors will meet a Philadelphia quintet in the opener, with the feature attraction pitting the Shrine All-Stars against the Princeton University All-Stars. Playing for the Shriner quintet will be such familiar names as Buster Thomas, Mary Trotman, Bob Montgomery, Fred Wilson, Bob Gunnell, Sonny Terry and Rod Perry, the latter an outstanding athlete at Penn State. Proceeds will go to the Tuberculosis and Cancer Fund being raised by Khufu Temple 120.

BOWLING NOTES

Stiff competition among teams was the keynote of Major League bowling at Princeton Recreation Center this past week as Decker's Dairy and Exchange Market (34 points apiece) continued their torrid scrap for top honors. . . Interestingly, the Key Shop (28) whisked by both Blatts and Tiger Garage (24 each) which remained deadlocked and immobile. . . West Windsor remained immobile, too, having won nothing since the second half of the season commenced. . . Vying for individual laurels, Cy Cornell posted a fine 614 series (205-181-228), followed by Larry Golden, 201-234, Hal Frazee, 225, Joe Trani, 201-219, Tony Amalfitano, 219, Al Dempster, 212, Bill Kiefer, 211, Guido Inetti, 200-252, and Bill Herman, 201.

Elsewhere along the circuits, Nassau Del (74) increased its margin over Glenmoor (58) in the Industrial loop, Princeton 20, 1 (110) maintained its same edge over Belle Mead (108) and picked up ground on Kingsport (100) in the Tri-County Flemen's League, Tiger Garage (71) extended slightly an advantage over its sole challenger, Sunbeam (70), in the Princeton "A" loop and Boice Lumber (34) moved out of its tie with Jefferson Plumbing (30), which in turn was tied by the —Continued on Page 20

"Incorrect" and "Unwarranted".
To the Editor of Town Topics:
In a letter published here last week, Richard C. Griggs seeks to exempt the officeholders of his party from responsibility. He queries that I specify some of the mistakes that the Township government made with respect to the recent reassessment of property. This I am pleased to do, although it would hardly seem necessary since they have been so well reported in the press and the contrast was so marked between the reassessment operation in the Borough and in the Township, despite the fact that the same firm was employed by both.

Among the mistakes in the Township were:
(1) The assessment should not have been placed at 100%—really, for many, well over 100% of present value. Princeton Township apparently is the only municipality in the whole State now assessing at 100%. The Borough Assessor and others have publicly explained the reasons why it is not desirable for a municipality to assess at full 100%.

(2) As the Township Assessor has publicly admitted, much of the land in the Township was reassessed above 100 per cent of true value. With proper guidance to allow for the special circumstances in the Township and with less pressure to meet a deadline, this error could have been avoided.

(3) The Township Committee acted too late, and the reassessments were completed too late, in the calendar year. The result was hasty action and a jam-up in the holiday period right after Christmas when in a few days over 600 taxpayers had to take up their reassessments personally at Township Hall.

Mr. Griggs asserts that, at the time of public hearings on the reassessment project, "No one came forward at these meetings to protest the reassessing of Township property or to offer any alternative plan." That statement is incorrect, and the views he develops from that false premise are unwarranted.

Perhaps Mr. Griggs will now wish to revise or retract some of the remarks contained in his letter.

Joint Planning Needed.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:
In almost every issue of TOWN TOPICS mention is made of Princeton's parking problem and the associated traffic entanglements. Frequent mention is also made of the expansion and relocation of concerns in the business district of the Borough without apparent awareness of the effect of these relocations on the traffic patterns on Borough streets.
Within the past 12 years, we have seen a doubling of the population of the Princeton area, with relatively little change in the area of the Borough's business district. As it seems likely that with the expansion of Princeton University, together with the location of research organizations in the Princeton area, we will see

News Of The CHURCHES

Youth Council Formed. Next Sunday, March 24, official representatives from the youth groups of Princeton's churches will gather for the first meeting of a new youth organization, to be known as the Church YMCA Youth Council.

Initiated by the Church Coordinating Committee of the Princeton YMCA and its chairman, Warren Elmer, the council will strive for "Better communication among youth in the Princeton community, including a better understanding among young people of different religious beliefs."

The young people who will meet next Sunday under the chairmanship of Linda Brown will decide how they want to organize the council and what activities they want to pursue. This meeting will be followed by a joint meeting with adult advisors.

Its sponsors are the Church-YMCA Youth Council which will work out a program, essentially church-centered, that will include social, cultural and athletic activities. Ultimately, the adult sponsors also look for the council to develop a code of behavior for young people that adults and adolescents can both accept.

This Custom-Built House for only $9650*?

SURE...and look what you get!

The 3-Bedroom BALMORAL

Designed for maximum flexibility in furniture arrangement with raised picture window in the large living room, and high screened windows in the 3 bedrooms.

Q. Are your Designed for Living houses pre-fab or pre-cut?

A. Absolutely not! They're conventionally constructed of finest materials obtainable; planned and built by our own skilled craftsmen.

Q. What makes your building plan unique? Your houses so low-priced?

A. We design and build houses ONLY—do not invest in real estate. Therefore, we're able to effect sizeable savings.

Q. Then I need my own lot?

A. That's right. And, in most cases, you can save even more by arranging to put in your foundation, and take care of the painting yourself.

Q. Why do I get more value in a Designed for Living house?

A. We use nothing but West Coast fir in the finest construction grade for framing, and the interior trim is completely stainable; American-Standard heating and plumbing, finest cast iron tubs and copper water lines go into every house. All are insulated with U.S. Gypsum Wool; and the wall sheathing is full 3/4" tongue and groove construction for extra protection.

Q. What other extras are included in the price?

A. You get a 1957 Hotpoint Deluxe Kitchen including a Dutch oven with built-in rotisserie, and a burner-top range. There's Armstrong inlaid linoleum; and such luxury details as Litolier light fixtures, Schlage hardware, colored tile baths, and Yorktown kitchen cabinets.

Q. How much do your other houses cost?

A. The general price range of our houses is $6900 to $35,000—but some are considerably higher.

Q. How are these houses financed?

A. With a mortgage obtained from an insurance company, a savings and loan association, or from your local bank. Our continuing association with lending institutions of this kind is another demonstration of Designed for Living's reputation.

Q. What are the terms?

A. A low down-payment, with up to 23 years to pay off the low-interest mortgage.

Q. How does this compare with many advertised payment plans?

A. Don't confuse ours with questionable no-down-payment short term mortgage plans that look like deceptively "easy terms"—but are actually very costly.

Q. Anything more I should know?

A. Yes—we give you a written contract guaranteeing the price, materials, and workmanship. It is your guarantee of receiving fullest value.

Q. Where can I see these houses?

A. Outstanding examples of Designed for Living houses are on exhibit at either of our two locations below every weekday and Sunday till 9 P.M.; and Saturday till 5 P.M. Or we will be glad to refer you to any of our hundreds of satisfied customers.

And remember, Designed for Living also has a program whereby you may buy your house in any degree of completion from shell to partial completion.

THE 3-BEDROOM COURTNEY

$16,775*

Separate bath and dressing room adjoin master bedroom; second bath handy to other bedrooms. Wide roof overhang protects and shades indoors from sun's glare.

*When you buy the lot, arrange to put in your foundation and take care of the painting.

Preview! This quiet, modest ad is a neighborly note to let you know in advance about a really delightful new home. Next week, the story of Kendall Park East will be advertised all over New Jersey and New York, as is customary with important new homes. But because of the personal interest so many of you have shown in Kendall Park, we thought of giving you this preview invitation, to let you see it first and even make an early selection if you choose.

the legend of Kendall Park

You never really know for sure what a new community will be like until after it is built. It may be introduced with fanfare and colorful ribbons and high promise, and then become forgotten and ungrrowing.

Or it may begin quietly, and become a success . . . respected, desired, copied, bountiful beyond expectations. That's how it was with Kendall Park, this flowering community halfway between New Brunswick and Princeton, New Jersey.

How did it happen that way? What favored Kendall Park?

"I Will Build More Than Homes!"

It began in 1955 when a builder brought to a township his plans for a new community of homes. "I do not believe in building just the homes," he said. "That wouldn't be fair to the people who buy them—or the people now living here. A community made for—say 200 families—cannot have 201 without discomfort to some families."

"I will build schools and shopping areas."

"I will build only a limited number of homes, so that each family will have all the facilities it needs, without crowding."

"This community, and these homes, will represent a 'return to normalcy', instead of congested, high-powered machines for living."

And it happened—and is still happening—that way, at, Kendall Park.

A Return to Normalcy in Living

Kendall Park homes are ranch homes in every respect . . . to save you steps.

They have extra rooms by virtue of a larger base . . . rather than by cutting down the size of the rooms.

Each home is built on a minimum $\frac{1}{4}$ acre to establish spacious living outdoors as well as indoors.

The community includes planned roads, sidewalks and city sewage. There are no tax assessments.

This builder is wary of commercial gimmicks. He is devoted to the important requirements of a home and its environment.

The good taste and judgment of the families of Kendall Park—like the builder's—have given this area the brightness and sparkle that comes only with foresight and success. You see modern new schools. Excellent shops. Cared-for lawns and parks. A magical growth and pride.

and now...Kendall Park East

This is the beginning of a new phase in the growth of Kendall Park. It is an adjoining community of homes called Kendall Park East.

The new model homes are being previewed now. They are revolutionary, not in respect to gadgets, but in the beauty and practical utility they offer at the price. Here is a look at one of the floor plans.
